

Dr. Thad Dean specializes in Joint Replacement and Orthopedic Oncology. Growing up in the Midwest, Dr. Dean was an athlete from a young age. Wrestling from the age of 4, he continued into high school, also picking up baseball and football. He studied at Northwest Missouri State, Kansas City University of medicine and bioscience, continued into his Residency at Grandview hospital in Ohio before finishing his studies at Emory University in Atlanta.